Foreword	13
1 Introduction.....	15
1.1 Assumptions	18
1.2 A generic musicality.....	20
1.3 Cross-disciplinarity and methodology	28
1.4 Overview.....	31

PART ONE: FOUNDATIONS OF A COGNITIVE MUSICOLOGY

2 Some preliminary considerations regarding a musical semantics	35
2.1 The fluidity of musical meaning.....	37
2.2 The semantic subjective/objective axis.....	39
2.3 The cognitive higher/lower axis	41
2.4 From musical element to cognitive response	43
2.5 Modeling musical semantics.....	46
2.6 Preverbal meaning construction.....	50
2.7 Chapter summary.....	53
3 An ontogenetic perspective on musical cognition.....	57
3.1 Paraverbal consciousness and affective contour.....	59
3.2 The proto-concept.....	63
3.3 Early foundations of music.....	68
3.4 Chapter summary.....	72

4	A view from cognitive semantics.....	73
4.1	The cognitive revolution	73
4.2	Image schemas.....	75
4.3	Imagination and metaphorical projection	79
4.4	Prototypes and categorization.....	83
4.5	The generic level.....	87
4.6	Chapter summary.....	91
5	Neuromusicology and the musical mind.....	93
5.1	From sounds to music: the auditory pathway	98
5.2	Places and networks: the architecture of the brain	101
5.3	Brain time.....	103
5.4	Some biological constraints on musical perception.....	113
6	Emotion and music	117
6.1	The neurobiology of emotion	119
6.2	Intersubjectivity, attunement and social competence.....	124
6.3	State, response, and the emotion loop	126
6.4	Prediction, expectation and emotion.....	131

PART TWO: TOWARDS A MUSICAL SEMANTICS

7	The construction of musical meaning.....	139
7.1	Some problems in perception	142
7.2	Auditory schemas and cultural entrainment	144
7.3	The emergence of musical meaning.....	150
7.4	The black box	154
7.5	'Blending' or conceptual integration.....	156
8	Some musical elements and their cognitive responses	165
8.1	Phrase and gesture	166
8.2	Rhythm.....	171
8.3	Microstructure	176

8.4	Constraints on the musical gesture	183
8.5	Three cognitive levels of musical organization.....	198
9	The embodiment of musical form.....	201
9.1	The stratification of musical time	203
9.2	The song	207
9.3	Narrativity.....	210
9.4	The musical subject.....	216
9.5	The analysis of musical form	221
10	Signification in music	227
10.1	The sign	230
10.2	The sign cascade	234
10.3	Agency, narrative and visualization	237
10.4	Closure	239
	Bibliography	241
	Index	255
