Challenges in Teacher Development: Learner Autonomy and Intercultural Competence
Challenges in Teacher Development: Learner Autonomy and Intercultural Competence
Contents

Introduction
Lies Sercu and Manuel Jiménez Raya

Learner autonomy and intercultural competence
Adri Elsen and Oliver St.-John

Section 1: Teachers’ beliefs: changing teachers’ beliefs is prerequisite to changing teaching practice
Teacher beliefs and their impact on teaching practice: a literature review
Lies Sercu and Oliver St. John
Foreign language teachers and intercultural competence. What keeps teachers from doing what they believe in?
Lies Sercu
Pedagogy for autonomy, teachers’ attitudes and institutional change: a case study
Antoinette Camilleri-Grima

Section 2: Action research and teachers’ professionalisation
Action Research: Professional development through enquiry
Enrica Flamini and Manuel Jiménez Raya
Action research as a way to professional development
Ragnar Aagard, Helga Deeg, Enrica Flamini, Kees van Esch
Reflective teacher development towards pedagogy for autonomy in schools: promoting and understanding change through pedagogical inquiry
Flávia Vieira

Section 3: E-learning and teachers’ professionalisation
The potential of e-learning in the professional development of teachers
Angela McFarlane, Anton Bradburn, Agnes McMahon and Nel Roche
The development of language teachers’ understandings of intercultural communicative competence: a Bulgarian distance learning case study
Richard Fay and Leah Davcheva