

Table of Contents

Notes on Contributors .....	7
Preface: Ghosts – or the (Nearly) Invisible .....	11
Maik Hildebrandt
Medieval Ghosts: the Stories of the Monk of Byland .....	13
Ruth Heholt
Speaking of Seeing Ghosts: Visions of the Supernatural in the Tales of Catherine Crowe.....	25
Eleanor Dobson
The Ghost of Oscar Wilde: Fictional Representations.....	35
Kati Voigt
Ghostly Science or Scientific Ghosts: The Fourth Spatial Dimension in Children’s Literature .....	45
Claudia Richter
Carl Gustav Jung and the Ghosts .....	57
Désirée Kriesch
‘They only see what they wanna see’: Traumatized Ghosts and Ghost Story Conventions in The Sixth Sense and The Others .....	71
Clausdirk Pollner
‘At the Hollow, there was Magic.’ The Language of Kim Newman’s Ghost Novel.....	87
Dominik Becher
Neil Gaiman’s Ghost Children.....	91
Julia Kunz
The Ghost as a Metaphor for Memory in the Irish Literary Psyche .....	107

Sophie Thiele
“I Know not who these Mute Folk Are” – Ghostly Houses in Early Twentieth Century English and American Poetry .....	115
Johanna Grabow
Haunting the Wide, White Page – Ghosts in Antarctica .....	125
Julia Pfeifer
The Loa as Ghosts in Haitian Vodou .....	137
Minwen Huang
From Cultural Ghosts to Literary Ghosts – Humanisation of Chinese Ghosts in Chinese Zhiguai .....	147
Vera Shamina
Mystic Motifs in Silver Age Poetry and Prose .....	161