Contents

Ágnes Veszelszki
Preface .................................................................................................................. 7

Truth, Time and Visuality

Kristóf Nyíri
Towards a Theory of Common-Sense Realism .................................................. 17

Sybille Krämer
Truth in Testimony: Or can a Documentary Film ‘Bear Witness’? Some Reflections on the Difference between Discursive and Existential Truth .......... 29

Valeria Giardino
Space and Action to Reason: from Gesture to Mathematics .......................... 41

Daniel L. Golden
Visual Management of Time ................................................................................ 51

Javier E. Carreño
Husserl on the Right Timing of Depictions ....................................................... 59

Visual Rhetoric, Iconography

Petra Aczél
Rediscovering the Visual in Rhetorical Tradition: Persuasion as Visionary in Suasory Discourse ........................................................................... 69

Timothy Barney
The Rhetorical Lives of (Cold War) Maps .................................................................. 83

Orsolya Endrődy-Nagy
Paintings and Illuminated Manuscripts as Sources of the History of Childhood: Conceptions of Childhood in the Renaissance .......... 91
Contents

Online Visuality

Krisztina Szabó
Digital and Visual Literacy: The Role of Visuality in Contemporary Online Reading ......................... 103

Gergely Havasmezői
Images in the Hungarian Online News ......................................................... 113

Trischa Goodnow
The Selfie Moment: The Rhetorical Implications of Digital Self Portraiture for Culture ..................... 123

James E. Katz and Elizabeth Thomas Crocker
Selfies as interpersonal communication ......................................................... 131

Ágnes Veszelszki
#time, #truth, #tradition. An Image-text Relationship on Instagram: photo and hashtag ......................................................... 139

Visuality in Teaching and Learning

Matthew Crippen
Dewey on Arts, Sciences and Greek Philosophy ............................................ 153

András Benedek
SysBook as a Visual Learning Frame .......................................................... 161

János Horváth Cz.
Micro-content Generation Framework as a Learning Innovation ...................... 171

Notes on Contributors .................................................................................. 181

Index ............................................................................................................. 187