

Contents

Abbreviations	21
1. The origins of Christian Negative Theology	23
1.1 The ambiguity of the Holy Scripture concerning the knowledge of God	23
1.2 Philo of Alexandria – transcendence and negative theology	26
1.3 The apologetic usage of negative theology in the 2nd century	31
1.4 Clement of Alexandria – the unknown Father revealed in the Son of God	38
1.5 The incomprehensible Father in Origen	46
2. Incomprehensibility of God in the First Phase of the Arian Controversy	49
2.1 The knowledge of God in Arius	49
2.1.1 The problem of Platonism of Arius	49
2.1.2 Monad and Dyad – the problem of creation	51
2.1.3 Creation ex nihilo ? The problem of a “non-being”	57
2.1.4 The attributes of God from Arius’ perspective	60
2.1.5 Negative theology of Arius	62
2.2 The transcendence and knowledge of God in Athanasius	69
2.2.1 The knowledge of the image of God	70
2.2.2 Knowing God from the creations	74
2.3 Positive and negative theology reconciled in Marius Victorinus	77
2.3.1 God as non-existent above existents	78
2.3.2 Negative theology in speaking of God as the One	83

3. “You Worship What You Do Not Know”	89
3.1 “Ingeneracy” as a positive attribute and the essence of God	90
3.2 Worship and knowledge – a puzzling question.....	99
3.2.1 The distinction between “that is” and “what is”	101
3.2.2 Faith and understanding	105
3.3 You are like the Samaritans.....	110
4. Ousia and Energeia (Substance and Activity)	115
4.1 Eunomius and the two ways of theology.....	115
4.2 The philosophical sources of οὐσία and ἐνέργεια	119
4.2.1 Aristotle – the origins of ἐνέργεια	120
4.2.2 The use of ἐνέργεια in Middle-Platonism and Plotinus.....	127
4.3 The Holy Scripture and early Christian concepts of ἐνέργεια	138
4.3.1 The Holy Scripture on the activities of God as a way to know His attributes.....	138
4.3.2 The Church Fathers and the sources of Eunomius’ methods	142
4.4 The knowledge of the Unbegotten substance in two ways.....	149
4.4.1 The first method – from substance to activity	149
4.4.2 The second method – from activity to substance.....	158
4.5 Basil of Caesarea on language and comprehensibility of God.....	165
4.6 Gregory of Nyssa on knowing the activities and the essence of God	174
4.6.1 The ontological status of God’s activities	175
4.6.2 The criticism of the second way of Eunomius	179
4.6.3 The activity of generation and other activities of God.....	181
4.6.4 Activities and incomprehensibility of God	187

5. The Development of Negative Theology in the Latter Half of the 4th Century	195
5.1 Basil of Caesarea's incomprehensibility of οὐσία	195
5.2 Negative theology and mystical experience in Gregory of Nyssa.....	203
5.3 Unknown God of Gregory of Nazianzus.....	210
5.4 John Chrysostom against Eunomius	219
Conclusion	227
Bibliography	233
Index	245

