

Bartosz Czepil / Wojciech Opiola

Ethnic diversity and local governance quality

The case of Opole Province in Poland

Bartosz Czepil / Wojciech Opióła

Ethnic diversity and local governance quality

The book is devoted to relations between the ethnic diversity and the quality of governance at the local level. Opolskie province in Poland is a case for explaining this interdependence. That is because of its history of multiculturalism and the present state of its ethnic diversity. The important feature of this region is, that nearly half of the communes is ethnically homogenous when the rest is ethnically diversified with a strong position of German and Silesian minorities. The preliminary assumption was, that the quality of governance would be higher in communes characterized by ethnic diversity. On the basis of the nested analysis method, authors conducted quantitative and qualitative analysis.

The Authors

Bartosz Czepil is a political scientist and sociologist, assistant professor at University of Opole, Poland.

Wojciech Opióła is a political scientist, assistant professor at University of Opole, Poland and the editor-in-chief of „Pogranicze. Polish Borderlands Studies“ peer-reviewed journal.

Ethnic diversity and local governance quality

STUDIES IN POLITICS, SECURITY AND SOCIETY

Edited by Stanisław Sulowski
Faculty of Political Science and International Studies
University of Warsaw

VOLUME 29

PETER LANG

Bartosz Czepil / Wojciech Opiola

Ethnic diversity and local governance quality

The case of Opole Province in Poland

PETER LANG